We have comprehensive expertise defending directors & officers and in the unique insurance coverage issues those claims typically present. Our D&O group has developed particular expertise in issues involving directors and officers of financial institutions and lender liability coverage, bankers' professional liability and financial institution bonds. We have also defended lawsuits against accountants involving every area of practice: accounting and audit, tax, management advisory services, executive search, and consulting. Finally, our focus on professionals also includes securities, insurance and real estate brokers and agents, mortgage lenders, clergy, psychiatrists, psychologists, family and marriage counselors, title insurers, home inspectors, travel agents and others.
